

Californian RV Resort

This RV park on a hill reminded me of the city I am going to visit next week (except it is no where near a bay and I definitely did not leave my heart there). The Californian has all of the amenities, is very well maintained and has beautiful landscaping. The higher altitude afforded some great views of the mountains and all of us enjoyed the clean air. While the writer and his better half did not make to the park until late, rumor has it that an illustrious officer of the club “dropped” the punch line of a very funny joke on Friday night. All was not lost, however since he retold the joke Saturday evening.

On Saturday morning we had an opportunity to welcome Trish Newby back after more than 3 months of taking care of her mom on the east coast. It was great to see Trish again and she looks terrific. Our wagonmasters (Bill and Diane Grist) did double duty this weekend, since the LaFleur’s were not able to attend the outing due to mechanical problems with their coach. A special thanks to Bill and Diane for all that they did, including some great sausages at Saturday night’s dinner. The weekend was very relaxing and a good time was had by all. Richard Ibarra won the 50/50.

Did You Know?

- The great pictures on pages 2 and 3 were provided by Gary Saar.
- Dawn Ibarra’s minutes from the Saturday morning meeting is on page 4
- Jeff Newby told the group about how he was able to significantly increase the power of their coach by cleaning the injection system cooler (looks like a small radiator).
- The recipe for Jacquee Magnusson’s absolutely wonderful potato casserole is on page 5.
